INTRODUCTION

KEF offers merit-based scholarships to Koniag Shareholders and registered Descendants. These scholarships are competitive and are scored by the KEF Scholarship Committee. While all eligible applicants will receive funds, the amount applicants will receive will be based on their application score. Each portion of the application has a point value, including the students' GPA (except for Career Development and Vocational). Because KEF is a private nonprofit, IRS regulations require that all scholarships, vocational, and career development funds must be mailed directly to the institute where training is taking place. Please note this means KEF does not reimburse or send awards to students directly.

All applicants must be Koniag Shareholders or registered Descendants. If not a registered Descendant, applicant must submit a Shareholder Descendant application and be approved by Koniag Shareholder Records prior to any disbursement of award. The Descendant database form is located here <https://www.koniag.com/our-shareholders/records-forms/>. For more information, please e-mail shareholderinfo@koniag.com or call (800) 658-3818. If you are unsure if you are registered, please speak with Koniag Shareholder Services or KEF for assistance.

TRANSCRIPT REQUIREMENTS

Official Transcripts

When you apply for a KEF General or Spring Only scholarship, you will upload your most recent unofficial transcripts. These must be followed up by official transcripts (or a receipt showing you have ordered your official transcripts) by June 30 (or October 31 for Spring Only applicants) of each application year. If official transcripts aren't received by the deadline, funds may be forfeited.

Official transcripts must come to KEF directly from your educational institution (high school for incoming freshman). Most institutions allow transcripts to be emailed for a small fee through your school's secure electronic transcript delivery network (such as Parchment, eScript, National Student Clearinghouse, etc.), or sent via USPS (regular mail). If it is emailed from the school, they should be sent to scholarships@koniageducation.org. If it is sent through mail, send it to Koniag Education Foundation, 3800 Centerpoint Dr., Ste 702 Anchorage, AK 99503, ATTN Scholarship Manager.

Pass/No Pass Grading Systems

KEF uses an applicant's GPA following the 4.0 model for consideration of applicant eligibility and determining competitive annual awards. KEF recognizes that not all institutions use a standardized 4.0 model for GPA and tracking student progress and success. The KEF Standardized GPA Form (located under FORMS on our website) must be completed by a school representative with the authority to confirm that the student is completing work at or above the GPA level required. The official document may be submitted to KEF by the student or directly by the institution. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that all documents are submitted to KEF by the stated deadline(s).

Unofficial Transcripts

Students must provide unofficial transcripts to KEF immediately after the completion of fall, and/or winter terms. No disbursement will occur until transcripts are received by KEF. Unofficial transcripts must be received within four weeks of the end of each term or the funds may be forfeited.

Unofficial transcripts can generally be accessed via a student's online school account without a fee and must be submitted at the end of fall and/or winter terms. Unofficial transcripts should be emailed to scholarships@koniageducation.org and must be attached to the email as a .pdf file. Any other file formats, such as copy and pasting into the email or screen shots will not be accepted.

*Note: Students are welcome to submit official transcripts for each term if they so choose.

Glenn Godfrey led an exemplary career with the State Troopers, from walking a beat to finding innovative ways to improve law enforcement in rural communities, and finally serving as Commissioner of Public Safety for the State of Alaska. At his retirement, after 32 years with the Department of Public Safety, Governor Tony Knowles said, "He has distinguished himself by his selfless dedication to public service, his commitment to protecting Alaska's children, and meeting the unprecedented public safety challenges that followed September 11th."

Glenn was born and raised in Kodiak and joined the Alaska State Troopers in 1970. He served as a patrol trooper in Anchorage, Juneau, and Northway, where he was responsible for drug enforcement along the Canadian border. In 1978, he was promoted as post commander for Western Alaska in Bethel where he was instrumental in the development of the Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO) program. Godfrey was later assigned to the director's office in Anchorage and was put in charge of the VPSO program, statewide search and rescues, and the Trooper's Special Emergency Reaction Team. Godfrey went on to serve as chief of Rural Enforcement and deputy director of the Alaska State Troopers. Knowles promoted Godfrey to director of the Trooper Division in 1995 and he succeeded Ron Otte as Commissioner of the Department in August of 2000. Upon his retirement, he was appointed to Gov. Tony Knowles's cabinet as the Commissioner of Public Safety. Mr. Godfrey was the first Alaska Native in both posts. Godfrey also served as chairman of Koniag, the ANSCA regional corporation for Kodiak, and was named "Citizen of the Year" by the Alaska Federation of Natives in 1999.

About Magnel "Maggie" E. Drabek

Magnel "Maggie" E. Drabek was born in Afognak village in 1926 to Olga (daughter of Evdokia (Nekrasoff) and Peter Paul Naumoff of Afognak) and Louie Larsen (a fisherman and merchant marine originally from Alesund, Norway). Maggie was known for her fortitude, practical leadership, diplomacy, humor and creativity.

In 1947 she married Henry "Hank" Alvin Drabek of Springville, N.Y., after they met in Seattle, WA, while Hank was decommissioning the aircraft carrier Bonhomme Richard after World War II. Together they raised two sons, Anthony "Tony" John and Alvin Lawrence. Hank was overseas for many years serving in the Navy during the Korean War. Regardless of where they lived, Maggie was always involved in community activities and recognized for her talents. For example, during their years living on the Coronado Naval Base in Southern California, she won numerous artistic awards for hat designs, publicity posters and costumes.

They returned to live in Kodiak after Hank retired from the Navy. Maggie worked for many years in the Kodiak school system as a cook and later as a teacher's aide before retiring for health reasons. Prior to her work in Kodiak schools, she served as "forelady" for several prominent fish processors. Maggie's family remembers when the 1964 earthquake and tsunami struck, the only household item she grabbed before heading for high ground was her "Big Ben" alarm clock so she wouldn't be late for work the next morning. Ironically, while she had her alarm clock, the cannery she worked at had been washed away in the night, along with her house and all the family's belongings.

When Maggie was a young, single woman living in Washington, she gave birth to a son whom she was unable to care for at the time. Maggie made the difficult decision to give him up for adoption. Her son, Roger McCracken, was reunited with his two brothers in 1998 after Tony's search for Roger proved fruitful. The families are pleased to honor Maggie's memory through the creation of a memorial scholarship fund to support education, arts and cultural studies students.

Maggie passed away in 1990. The memory of her as a loving mother, wife, friend, sister, aunt and daughter, as well as her passion for education and Alutiiq culture, lives on.
